Arthur is a great-great-grandson of Tecumseh. Mrs. Don (Polly) Miller took the Rolettes on a tour of Indian village sites in Pickaway County during their stay here.

Appetite Downfall For Escaped Man

CANADIAN, Okla. (AP) — Nobody thought too much about the rotund man in the dirty T-shirt who dropped into Jones' Grocery for a soda and potato chips. That is, until C.A. Pearce saw the man.

Pearce, a guard at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary 17 miles away, immediately recognized Rex Brinlee Jr., a convicted bomb slayer who had escaped from the prison eight days earlier. Just the day before, prison officials had said they had no idea where Brinlee was.

State prison warden Richard Crisp said Brinlee and Pearce recognized each other immediately and "Brinlee suggested they both walk outside and discuss the matter. They walked outside and in the conversation Rex agreed that the proper course of action would be to turn himself over to Mr. Pearce...."

Witnesses said that moments later Pearce and Brinlee walked back into the store and called the prison. Brinlee was tired, hungry and eaten up by chiggers.

His quiet capture Sunday in a resort town ended a chapter in one of the biggest manhunts in Oklahoma history that began after seven inmates fled the state prison June 19.

Two other convicted killers are still at large, the targets of a round-the-clock search in rugged countryside near Stigler in eastern Oklahoma. Late Sunday, Gov. David Boren authorized use of four National Guard helicopters for low-level surveillance of the area where cousins Edwin Jones and William Franklin are believed hiding.

Shoppers at Jones' Grocery said they thought Brinlee was a fisherman from nearby Lake Eufaula. He bought a snack with a $1 bill before he saw correctional officer Pearce.

Robert Jones, owner of the grocery in this resort town of about 200 on Lake Eufaula, said there "really wasn't much" to the surrender of Brinlee shortly after 11 a.m. Sunday.

Jones described Brinlee as "not having much of a beard" but wearing "a dirty T-shirt like he had been hiding."

"I thought I had seen him before, but it really didn't hit me at the time that it was Brinlee," said Jones. "I guess I had seen his pictures in the paper."

Brinlee, 43, was given a life term after being convicted of the bomb-slaying of Bristow, Okla., kindergarten teacher Fern Bolding, and officials said Brinlee had actually intended to kill her husband, who was to testify against him in an auto theft case.

Jones and Franklin, the two men still at large, were convicted of killing a state trooper and a park superintendent.

Ford Urges Slowdown On Welfare

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — President Ford is urging America's chief industrial allies to go slow on social welfare spending lest they revive inflation which could lead to a new global recession.

Ford told the opening session Sunday of the seven-nation economic summit conference he convened:

"The global inflationary climate resulted in large part because governments overcommitted themselves to ameliorate social inequities at home and abroad and to achieve an ever-rising standard of living."

Alan Greenspan, chairman of Ford's Council of Economic Advisers, said the President argued that governments were "too ambitious in what they actually attempted to achieve as well as in the expectations they raised."

Greenspan said Ford certainly favors rising living standards but believes they are threatened when inflation gets out of hand.

Ford's aides declined to report the reaction of the government chiefs of Britain, Canada, France, Italy, Japan and West Germany to Ford's statement. However, all their finance ministers have already endorsed the idea of moderating economic recovery, even at the cost of continued high unemployment, in order to dampen inflation.

Hoosier Student Sets World Mark

UNION CITY, Ind. (AP) — During the last two weeks, Chuck Castle has had a lot of sleepless nights. And he wouldn't have had it any other way.

The 15-year-old sophomore at Mississinewa Valley High School has broken the world's record for staying awake.

Castle completed his sleepless marathon of 289 hours, 31 minutes Saturday morning, adding a little more than nine hours to the previous record listed in the Guinness Book of World Records.

"Right around the end, before I fell asleep, I thought my whole life was going to change when I broke the record," Castle confessed. "I thought a band was going to come marching through the door and take me off to the television station. Then I broke it, and nothing happened. I just sat there in the chair."

Ford, Reagan Near Tie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ronald Reagan has moved within 25 committed delegates of President Ford, and some Republican National Committee members are worried that the down-to-the-wire battle may damage the GOP chances against the Democratic nominee in the fall election.

Ford started strong in weekend delegate selections, taking 17 of the 18 selected in Minnesota and pushing him to 1,001 of the 1,130 needed for nomination. But then it was downhill for him as Reagan picked up all 46 delegates chosen in Montana, Idaho and New Mexico.

Those, plus two previously uncommitted Wyoming delegates who switched to Reagan, gave the former California governor 976 committed delegates.

Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, who had enough committed delegates last week to win the Democratic presidential nomination, spent the weekend at his home in Plains, Ga. He boosted his delegate total during the weekend to 1,539. To clinch the nomination, 1,505 delegates are needed.

The delegate counts are according to The Associated Press delegate survey.

There are still 98 GOP delegates to be chosen before the party's convention in Kansas City and 182 that are uncommitted.

"I believe on the basis of what has taken place so far, and our own projections, that I will go to Kansas City with enough votes to win on the first ballot," Reagan said.

President Ford, in Puerto Rico for the six-nation summit conference on the world economy, had no immediate comment on the weekend developments.

Ford began the weekend leading Reagan by 56 delegates and saw the margin sliced by more than half. Ford led Reagan 984 to 928 committed delegates before the weekend.

The sparring for the GOP nomination is causing some concern among Republican National Committee members, who wrapped up a three-day meeting Saturday in Washington.

Some of the committee members, who declined to be identified, said the party's best chance in November is for Reagan to agree to run as Ford's vice presidential running mate.

Ten of the 150 members said in interviews that the bitterness cropping up in the Ford-Reagan battle may cause problems since Carter is now down to only one active opponent for the Democratic nomination and is able to spend his time working toward November.

Only California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. is still actively campaigning for the Democratic nomination, and in a Friday night television address he said he would support Carter if the Georgian gets the nomination.

The Republican committeemen were told at their meeting that the GOP is so short of money that it might be forced to go out of business by election time.

Unless Republican officials around the country get busy raising money, GOP Finance Chairman Jeremiah Milbank said, "we may not have the chance to fight back successfully again."

Although Reagan has said he will not accept the No. 2 spot on a ticket with Ford, there were more predictions that he would. Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., predicted that Ford will win the Republican nomination and he will need Reagan to bolster the ticket.

"It's my judgment that before it's over Mr. Ford and Mr. Reagan will be on the ticket," Humphrey said. In Marshfield, Wis., former Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, a Republican, also predicted Reagan would accept the vice presidential slot.

Reagan spent the weekend relaxing at his California home.

In an article written for U.S. News & World Report and released Sunday, Ford said a major step toward restoring trust in government could be accomplished by reducing what Americans expect from government. The President said one great challenge of the future will be "to protect the liberties of individuals and to ensure greater equality of opportunity."

Congress To Extend Tax Break

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is preparing a Bicentennial birthday gift for American taxpayers.

Both the House and Senate are expected to pass a stopgap measure this week preventing a payroll withholding tax increase from taking effect on Wednesday when tax cuts enacted last year expire.

The stopgap measure is being rushed through Congress because action on permanent, long-range legislation extending the cuts is nowhere near completion.

If withholding taxes were allowed to rise, it would mean a $245 tax increase for a family of four earning $6,000 a year; a $204 hike for a couple earning $10,000; a $151 increase for a single person earning $10,000; and $180 for a typical fourmember family earning $15,000.

Another bill that must be passed before Congress goes on recess Friday for the Fourth of July holiday and Democratic National Convention is an increase in the national debt ceiling.

Without the increase, the Treasury would not be able to borrow operating funds for the government. The House has passed and sent to the Senate a $73-billion increase, to $700 billion.

Final congressional action also may occur this week on a compromise $32.5 billion weapons procurement bill. A House-Senate conference committee approved the measure on Friday.

The compromise authorizes the Pentagon to go ahead with production of the first three prototypes of the B1 bomber.

The Senate had voted to delay a production decision on the B1 until next February so that whoever was elected president in November could make the final decision. But House conferees stood firm in opposing a delay and forced the senators to back down.

In another matter, Democratic House leaders are pressing for completion of work before the recess on a package of changes in House payroll and expense account procedures drafted in the wake of the Capitol Hill sex scandal.

Defying the wishes of the Democratic caucus, the House

Carter has fundraisers set in Asheville, N.C., Milwaukee, New York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Washington and Chicago this week as part of a three-week fundraising tour. He also says he's doing some thinking about a running mate.

In Lewiston, Maine, Saturday night, Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, who once sought the presidential nomination himself, said Carter is considering him for the No. 2 spot. Muskie said others being considered are Sens. Walter Mondale of Minnesota, Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and John Glenn of Ohio.

Carter's campaign treasurer, who has his sights set on raising $1 million in the fundraising tour, said that after the first 10 days "we're very close to being on target."

Campaign treasurer Robert Lipshutz said Sunday that after 10 days of fundraising receptions around the country between $300,000 and $400,000 has been raised.

He said Carter has cut his presidential campaign debt in half with the recent fundraisers and Carter's "true debt is between $300,000 and $400,000, but we also have to raise $350,000 for our convention expenses...."

Administration Committee voted Friday to turn over the revisions to the full House for action instead of having the committee itself put them into effect. Committee Chairman Frank Thompson Jr. of New Jersey said he was confident that Democrats on the panel will reverse the vote and implement the changes.

In an attempt to clear out legislation before the recess, the Senate met in an unusual Saturday session and approved $53-billion in spending measures. They include $43.3 billion for the Environmental Protection Agency, the Department of Housing and Urban Development and related agencies; $6.3 billion for Interior Department programs and $3.4 billion for military construction.

Tall Ships Arrive To Help Celebrate U.S. Bicentennial

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — They arrived in the harbor to cheers, applause and raucous whistles, the 42 young British women who sailed 632 miles of the Atlantic to help the United States celebrate the 200th birthday of its breakthrough from the crown.

Their voyage aboard the schooner Sir Winston Churchill ended Sunday in this crowded, festive port where tall masts once again line the docks along the colonial brick buildings of the waterfront.

On Thursday, Newport will serve as

Talks Opened With Hijackers In Uganda

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Palestinian extremists holding an Air France jetliner at Uganda's international airport were reported to have allowed some of the passengers to disembark today but were believed still holding the crew and most passengers.

An airline spokesman in Paris said some got off, but he did not know how many. An employee at Entebbe airport said he saw a group of passengers walk from the aircraft to a lounge in the old airport building, now used by the military.

The French Embassy here said Ugandan President Idi Amin and French Ambassador Pierre Renard were negotiating with the hijackers of the widebodied Airbus, which was reported to have 256 persons aboard when it landed here.

The Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine claimed responsibility for the hijacking, but the number of hijackers was not known.

Uganda radio broadcast a long statement it said was made by the hijackers condemning France as an imperialist enemy of Arabs. The statement also attacked the United States, Israel, Egypt and Syria.

The French Embassy said the hijackers asked for food and water for the passengers after the plane reached here with just half an hour's fuel left in the tanks.

"Negotiations have begun, but so far we don't know what they want," said a French official. "All we know is that contact has been made."

the starting point for a procession of more than 200 sailing ships and smaller vessels which will parade up New York Harbor on July 4 to celebrate the nation's Bicentennial.

The stars will be 19 "Tall Ships," most of them classic square-riggers with masts rising 150 feet or more above the deck. The Churchill is smaller and lighter than the square-riggers, but its all-woman crew made it the star among more than 10 British entries which raced here from Bermuda on the last leg of a transatlantic competition that began nearly two months ago in Plymouth, England.

"Tis rough work, but you get by," said Penelope MacGregor Williams, 17, of Sussex. "It's done me a world of good already. Toughened me up. I was lazy. Here you're told to do something, you do it. No buts about it."

The women took over in Bermuda from a male crew that had sailed from England under sponsorship of the Sail Training Association of Great Britain, owner of the ship.

Throughout the race which ended Saturday night with the Churchill five miles short of the finish line, the crew was supervised by a predominantly male complement of officers and petty officers led by Capt. Patrick Collis, a former Royal Navy training officer.

Miss Williams, like many in the crew, had done no extensive ocean sailing before the race started June 20. The young women, aged 16 to 25, had practiced climbing the rigging, which is five stories high, at dockside in Bermuda. Most of the first-timers admitted to terror.

But they were disappointed when the Churchill encountered only light winds and then was becalmed for three days near Bermuda.

Weather

Partly cloudy with a chance of showers or thundershowers today, tonight and Tuesday. High today in the middle 80s with a low tonight in the lower 60s. High Saturday was 84 with a low of 59 during the night. Sunday's high was 86 with a low during the night of 63.

Pentagon Reviewing POW Code

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Pentagon committee is reviewing the military code of conduct with Vietnam war prisoners who are divided over whether POWs should have latitude to give their captors more than name, rank, service number and birth date.

The issue, revived when 566 American POWs were released by the Vietnamese Communists more than three years ago, is central to the committee's mission of deciding whether the 21-year-old code needs rewriting.

The 10-member group has been meeting several times a week behind closed doors to study the record of the 1955 board that drafted the original code, and to listen to the views of former POWs and others on how the code worked in the Vietnam war.

The Defense Review Committee — which includes four former POWs — has heard clashing opinions on exactly what the code requires of Americans who fall into enemy hands in wartime.

"There are those — and they include men who lived through years in North Vietnamese prisons — who still hold to the Spartan idea that under no circumstances should you give more than name, rank, number and birth date," said one source familiar with the committee's proceedings.

But other freed POWs, some of whom have since been decorated for bravery while in captivity, believe this is unreasonable.

"A determined torturer can get you to answer his questions," said one source, an officer who told of enduring repeated torture.

"You may not tell him the truth, but he'll get you to answer."

"The important thing is that you go to the limit of your endurance, that you take significant pain before you give in."

No Word From Ocean Balloonist

NEW YORK (AP) — "We think he is still airborne," a ground support crew member said despite 18 hours without word from the 90-foot helium balloon that Karl Thomas hoped would float him to Paris.

"He is trying to fly it using dead reckoning and his own instincts," crew member Gary Johnson said late Sunday night.

"We are confident he has enough helium and everybody here has enough experience with him to know he never panics and always keeps his cool," Johnson said of the 27-year-old Thomas.

Johnson spoke from the flight's communications center in a 45th-floor luxury apartment overlooking the East River.

Ground crew members said direct contact with the balloon through a high-frequency signal was lost immediately after Thomas lifted off from the Lakehurst, N.J., Naval Air Station on Friday night.

The ground crew blamed a malfunctioning antenna for the break in communications. The failure also cost Thomas the use of his main navigational system, forcing him to rely on a sextant.

Indirect contact with Thomas through aircraft flying in the vicinity of the balloon was maintained until about 4 a.m. Sunday. At its expected altitude of 3,500 feet, the balloon would have to be within 50 miles of a plane to make contact through the backup system.

The ground crew said they did not know whether the break in communications meant the balloon had lost its backup radio system or whether it just was not within range of aircraft and ships.

In his next-to-last communication early Sunday, Thomas told an airplane pilot he was dropping some ballast to climb up over a storm. His last transmission an hour later gave no hint of having any problems.

The crew estimated that Thomas's position on Sunday night should have been 900 miles due east of Norfolk, Va., and 360 miles south and slightly east of Halifax, Canada.

Deputies Lend Assistance To Other County Officers

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies lent assistance to Madison and Franklin County Deputies in separate Sunday robberies, and Sheriff's divers recovered the bodies of two men who drowned in the Hocking River and searched a Madison County lake for a reported drowning victim.

Deputy Tim Hasselbring and Auxiliary Deputy Leon Sims rushed to cut-off a robbery suspect, who held up an Exxon Service Station at the intersection of Route 56 and I-71 in Madison County.

However, when they arrived at the Sohio Station, Route 624 and I-71 in Franklin County, 1:56 a.m. Sunday, the man had already been arrested.

The officers assisted Ohio State Highway Patrol personnel from the West Jefferson post round-up the suspects and promised to return to the station to insure that the get-away car had been properly impounded.

However, when they returned at 3:30 a.m., the station and a friend reported that they had just been held up by two men with a .38 caliber revolver.

The local deputies summoned Franklin County authorities, who apprehended the suspects.

Tom Urban, John Sanders, and George Bowers of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Rescue and Underwater Recovery Team recovered the bodies of two Lancaster men, who drowned in the Hocking River near Logan Sunday night.

They are Douglas Hoy, 24, and Brent Garrett, 20, both of Lancaster.

The men were part of a two-canoe party of four who were making a trip from Lancaster to Logan on the Hocking River.

The men apparently stopped for a break west of a dam area near Routes 33 and 93, according to Logan Police Ptl. Harold T. Fickel.

Hoy and Garrett, going against the advice of Jeffrey Mathias, 24, Lancaster, and Brad Harden, 21, Pleasantville, apparently attempted to "shoot" rapids created by the dam when the undercurrent scuttled their canoe under a waterfall.

Sanders and Charlie Reins also searched Chaktaw Lake in Madison County for four and a half hours Sunday morning in an unsuccessful attempt to locate a possible drowning victim.

Deputy R. L. Phillips is awaiting an inventory to determine the extent of loss at Jimmy's Lounge, 15 Wright St., Ashville.

Thieves apparently escaped with a large quantity of liquor in the Sunday morning robbery.

Owner James L. Gregg, Ashville, reported that entry was gained by breaking a window from the rear door to allow access to the door lock.

About 25 gallons of gasoline and an undetermined amount of ear corn were taken from the 13530 Crownover Road home of Lawrence Wolford.

The gas was syphoned from two trucks parked on the property and the corn was taken from the corn crib.

Players Schedule Theater Workshops For Young People

THEATER INSTRUCTORS — Instructors for Roundtown Players' three theater workshops for young people are, from the left, Robin Diehl, Carol Bowling, Eleanor Spicer, Marsha Schneider, Edith Grigg, and Janice Perdion.

Roundtown Players will provide a series of three theater workshops for young people starting July 7 at Memorial Hall and continuing through August for Beginning, Intermediate and Advanced students.

Highlighting each of the classes will be a presentation to be staged for parents and the general public at the conclusion of the workshops.

The beginning class to be taught by Marsha Schneider and Carol Bowling will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10-11:30 a.m. from July 7 through August 12. Designed as an introduction to many aspects of theater for children ages 5 through 8, creative dramatics will be the dominant theme.

The series of 12 classes will include lessons on costume and make-up, audio-visual effects, improvisation and memorization, scenery and prop construction, and will culminate in the presentation of an original skit which the class will write, produce and star in.

Both Mrs. Schneider and Mrs. Bowling are certified elementary school teachers who have been active in the Childrens' Theater division of Roundtown Players for several years.

No definite dates have been set for the intermediate and advanced classes but both will be held during the month of August and will be comprised of approximately 12 lessons each.

Edith Grigg, Robin Diehl, and Eleanor Spicer will be instructing the intermediate group for youth aged 9 to 15 who have little or no theater experience.

Mrs. Grigg, founder of Roundtown Players' Childrens' Theater division, has actively participated in all of the childrens production and many of the adult productions. Eleanor Spicer has been a past director of Reading Theater for the club and has also been active in Childrens' Theater. Mrs. Diehl has appeared in several productions for RP including two childrens' productions and has been active in many other areas of play production.

Emphasis in the intermediate classes will be on vocal skills and character interpretation with practices on stage. A cutting from "Sleeping Beauty" will be presented by the class as a final project.

The advanced group, for youth who have had previous stage experience, will be taught by Twana Moats, Janice Perdion, and B. J. Sowers.

Mrs. Moats, drama teacher at Logan Elm High School, starred in RP's musical "Brigadoon" and has recently appeared with Mrs. Sowers in the Players' Club production of "Music Man." Ms. Perdion, who has held major roles in "Brigadoon" and "Mousetrap," has been active in Childrens' Theater for a number of years. B. J. Sowers, who has an extensive background in all areas of theater on stage and off, starred as "Rose" in "Gypsy" three seasons ago, and directed the childrens' production of "Mr. Popper's Penguins" for RP last season.

The advanced group will be working mainly with mime and body movement, using make-up and costume.

Information on the beginning class can be obtained by calling Marsha Schneider at 474-8759. Eleanor Spicer, 474-3654, will answer questions pertaining to the intermediate group, and Janice Perdion, 474-4123, will respond to inquiries after 6 p.m. concerning the advanced group.

Business Booms In Fireworks

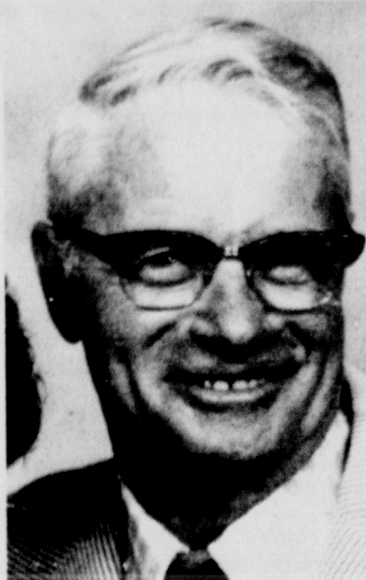

HUDSON, Ohio (AP) — Business literally is booming for fireworks maker James Sorgi as the nation prepares to celebrate its 200th birthday next weekend.

Sorgi says sales are about 40 per cent better than last year, even though tighter government restrictions on the shipping of fireworks have forced him to cancel 50 orders and turn down about 100 others.

He estimates he will do more than $200,000 in business over the July 4 weekend.

His company will put on 80 shows by the end of the Bicentennial weekend, including Chicago and Cleveland, and will ship another 450 orders of explosives to groups conducting their own shows. Sorgi expects to handle another 100 orders before the end of the year.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was little changed today, continuing last week's neutral trend. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks declined fractionally in the early going. Gainers and losers ran about even in the over-all tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts noted an atmosphere of disappointment and frustration over the market's repeated inability to work its way past the 1,000 level in the Dow.

In the economic news, the government reported today that the nation posted its first trade surplus in five months during May, with exports outpacing imports after seasonal adjustment by $395.6 million.

Bankamerica Corp. was unchanged at 56 1/2 in its first trading on the NYSE. The stock of the California bank holding company, previously traded in the over-the-counter market, was listed at the exchange this morning.

In Friday's mixed market the Dow Jones industrial average lost 3.93 to 999.84.

Eanes Wins Portuguese Presidency

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Gen. Antonio Ramalho Eanes, the army commander who foiled the attempted leftist coup last fall, has been elected president of Portugal by a 2 to 1 margin.

"Conditions finally exist for Portugal to construct a democracy," the stern-faced, 42-year-old soldier said in a televised victory message early today. Nearly complete unofficial returns gave him 61.41 per cent of the vote in Portugal's first free presidential election in half a century.

The outcome was expected since Eanes, a political centrist and law-and-order man, was endorsed by the three anti-Communist parties that got 80 per cent of the vote in the legislative elections in April.

Ultra-leftist Maj. Otelo Saraiva de Carvalho ran second with 16.6 per cent of the vote. Much of his support came from the Communist party, whose candidate, Octavio Pato, ran last with only 7.6 per cent.

"The Communist party is the big loser here," said Socialist party leader Mario Soares, who is slated to become premier and is committed to excluding the Communists from the government for the first time since the military revolution two years ago.

Finishing third in the voting with 14.3 percent was Premier Jose Pinheiro de Azevedo, who suffered a serious heart attack last week.

Storms Rake Central U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Strong thunderstorms overnight raked the Midwest from eastern Kansas and Nebraska across southern Iowa and northern Missouri and Illinois.

At the airport in St. Joseph, Mo., gusts were measured at 69 miles an hour. The roof of a hangar was blown off and a truck was moved about 30 feet by the wind. St. Joseph also experienced a temperature rise from 77 degrees to 93 degrees in about ten minutes during the night.

Large hail fell near Indianola, Iowa, Baileyville, Kan., and at Falls City and Tecumseh, Neb.

Thundershowers have been scattered from Texas to the south Atlantic states. Columbia, S.C., recorded more than three inches of rain within a two-hour period Sunday night.

Skies were mostly clear over the northern and middle Atlantic coast states and throughout the western half of the nation.

Commissioners Study Berger Agreement

Pickaway County Commissioners Dick T. Tootle, L. Robert Liston and Donald Strous today studied a resolution to modify the original city-county agreement for the operation of Berger Hospital.

The modification was recommended by county prosecutor Richard Gerhardt who said it should be done before placing a proposed tax levy on the ballot to finance construction of a new hospital.

The prosecutor said the terms of operation of the hospital are outlined in the original agreement, but no reference is made pertaining to new construction.

Commissioners agreed to study the proposed resolution a week before taking action.

In other business today, Ed Bohenko, representing the safety committee of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce requested that a crosswalk or traffic control light be installed at the North Court Shopping Center. The request was referred to county engineer Henry McCrady.

Vera Saunders of the Pickaway County Senior Citizens, was also present to discuss a federally funded meals program with the commissioners. The program will be housed temporarily in a building at the children's home farm located on Route 22 east.

Declaration Program To Be Held At COSI July 4 Weekend

A special Bicentennial slide program produced by the Kiwanis Club of Columbus, "A Commitment To The Declaration Of Independence," will be presented at the Center of Science and Industry Saturday, at 2:30 p.m. and Sunday, at 3:30 p.m. This audio-visual show was inspired by an address delivered by Dr. L. Clair Warden, former pastor of King Avenue United Methodist Church in which he called attention to "our many blessings, and good things which began with a Declaration of Independence in 1776."

While at COSI, visitors can see the new $500,000 American Chemical Society traveling exhibit, "Taking Things Apart And Putting Things Together." Here you can interact with 56 displays in seven walk through modules designed to resemble chemical molecules. The new permanent Oceanography exhibit is sponsored by Chemical Abstracts Service of Columbus. Navigational instruments, mineral samples and ocean science displays are shown.

"What's up?" the new summer show in the Battelle Planetarium also starts the Fourth of July weekend. The show tells the audience what stars and constellations they can see from their own backyards. Showtimes are at 1:30 and 3:30 Sat. 2:30 and 4:30 Sun., and weekdays at 2:30 p.m.

COSI will be closed Monday, July 5 in observance of Independence Day. Regular hours are Monday through Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday 1 to 5:30 p.m.

Phone Call Boost Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — It may cost 25 cents to make a local call from a phone booth in the future, the chairman of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. says.

AT&T already has raised the basic 10-cent phone charge to 20 cents in 10 states and to 15 cents in four states. In Louisiana, pay phones still charge only a nickel.

"In a couple of states, we're asking for increases to 25 cents, but I don't know how good the prospects are," John deButts said in an interview published Sunday by U.S. News & World Report.

The cost of home telephone service also will rise, DeButts said, "if we get inflation in the range of 6 to 7 per cent or more and we can't compensate for that with new technology and more-efficient operations."

AT&T has requests pending in 20 states which, if all approved, would cost the public an extra $1 billion a year.

Rare Cubs Born At Cincy Zoo

CINCINNATI (AP) — Four rare white Bengal tiger cubs were born at the Cincinnati Zoo, park authorities reported today.

It was the second time within two years that the zoo has had success in breeding the white tigers, of which there are only about 40 remaining in the world, according to a zoo spokesman.

A fifth tiger, orange-colored, was born at the same time.

In 1974, three white Bengal tigers were born at the Cincinnati Zoo and they were recently shipped to the National Zoological Park in Washington.

Split Second Proof

Ever since Albert Einstein postulated his Theory of Relativity and related hypotheses, small armies of scientists have been utilizing modern technology in efforts to prove or disprove his work. The wizard of physics has withstood the test of time.

One of the latest proofs has come from a group of University of Maryland scientists who tackled Einstein's 1908 hypothesis that gravity affects time. It was a concept which could not be tested in Einstein's day because there were no instruments capable of measuring intricate time changes.

The atomic clock is one and it was used by the UM researchers. Flying at an altitude of 6 miles above Chesapeake Bay and using identical atomic clocks on the ground and in the air, the team found time moves faster the farther removed it is from gravity.

Astronauts who have engaged in space travel need not worry about how much they have aged in the process. The UM scientists found their airborne clocks gained 45 nano-seconds in each 15-hour flight. A nano-second is one billionth of a second.

Hardly worth mentioning, except that the infinitesimal time differential helped prove a major scientific theory.

Joey Gallo

By JIM BISHOP

He was a small intelligent man with the expression of an inquisitive parrot. Joey Gallo was full of ideas. When they didn't work out, people were sometimes shot, or maimed, or they blew up out of cars like colored balloons.

When the ideas worked, everybody said Joey Gallo was a real comer in the organization. Like now. He had been thinking about the numbers racket in Brooklyn. The more he thought about it, the less he thought about it.

The fault was with the runners. Every one had his own route, picking up nickels and dimes and boxing quarters. Everyone took 25 per cent off the top. This was what was killing the organization.

So Joey solved it, and said let's fire the runners and open little candy stores all over Brooklyn. We can teach the suckers to come to us. Economically it was an excellent idea because it would be better to have 200 candy stores losing a little on newspapers and cigarettes but reaping a heap of coins every day in small bets.

Joey didn't like working through channels. But his channel was a tough man with an office on a pier. Albert Anastasia was dense, which caused him to be suspicious of the whole world.

In his spare time, he shook down the top men in the mob. If he kissed a baby, he hissed. He listened to Joey's newest ideas, and said, "Yeah. Fire the runners. Start the candy stores."

Joey was pleased. He took the night off. Julie Podell was running the Copa. Another "Julie," Julie Wilson was singing there. Joey figured it had to beat listening to Valachi.

He never got downstairs. Julie Podell stopped Joey to buy him a drink at the Copa bar. Mr. Podell was a Broadway abrasion. If he had friends, they could be numbered on the fingers of one thumb.

Gallo wanted to hear the beautiful Miss Wilson chirp. Podell sat next to Joey and jabbed his fat elbow into Gallo's ribs. Joey kept count: "Two times, three times — stop it, Julie — four times, five times, I'm warning you, you fat slob — six times, seven eight, nine..."

Mr. Gallo turned on his stool and brought a fast looping right into Podell's face. Julie's nose was generous before the punch. After, it looked like a Calais ham. Podell was on the floor roaring.

Gallo missed the show. In the morning he was making offers for candy stores when he got the message: "Albert and Vito have called a meet. This afternoon four o'clock at the Copa."

A meet? Nobody calls a meet for something trivial, like belting Podell. Anyway, Julie wasn't in the organization. The organization owned a piece of him. Podell was a side of beef to be cut up by Vito Genovese.

Gallo was escorted by four of his boys. The Copa was closed, but the sidewalk was heavy with pallbearers who clasped their hands in front. They hardly nodded.

In the bar, Don Vito spun a quarter next to a glass of wine and looked up at Joey Gallo. Albert shook his head sadly. Three hoods stood inside the door. At the far end of the bar, Julie Podell sat. He was wearing a dressing as big as the bar stool.

"In this thing," Anastasia said to Vito, "I have no part. Gallo is yours." Joey, who had little understanding of fear, froze with fright. "What is this?" he shouted. "I belong to you. You handing me over to Vito? My life to Vito? I come in here last night and that bum punches me in the ribs nine times. I say stop. He keeps doing it."

"I spread his fat nose for him. Now we call a meet because Podell stopped a punch? Albert, I work hard for the organization."

"Tell him you're sorry," Vito said

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — At least 100 distinctly different reasons have been offered by stock market bulls and bears in defense of their position over the past few months and all it adds up to is that bulls snort and bears grunt.

A quick survey of what have been offered as erudite theories and forecasts shows that neither bull nor bear has any special insight into the human and economic mechanisms that move the market.

The truth is that the market really hasn't moved very much in either direction since sometime last February, despite the forecasts of either imminent boom or recessionary gloom. It is stuck in its tracks.

The imagination of the forecasters has not been dulled, however. They have called in to serve every human activity, almost every institution and certainly every official government report, in support of their views.

What one can safely conclude, it seems, is that the market really doesn't reflect world events on a day-to-day basis, as many of the forecasters claim, but is instead a product of some underlying mass psychology.

That psychology does change, of course, but it hardly seems likely that investors on any particular day will be plunged into gloom or raised to ecstatic heights by what happens in the Mideast or in the Commerce Department.

Those reasons, it would appear, often are offered simply because the people in the stock market demand explanations, they insist on answers, ignoring the realization that if there were answers there would really be no market.

A market requires buyers and sellers, each possessed of enough money and conviction to seek to do something about the future, in which none of us has ever lived, and come back to report on what lies ahead.

It is this uncertainty that supports the market, that makes it, in theory anyway, an assemblage of random beliefs. And it is this uncertainty that permits such an outpouring of stock market opinion.

Looking back over some of those opinions offered during the past four months, one must conclude that contrary to the widespread notion, there is plenty that is free on Wall Street — but all of it is opinion.

Meanwhile, the most popular average of all, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, flirts with 1,000 points, sometimes exceeding the figure but never for long.

Through all the hostilities in the Mideast, despite continued inflation and unemployment, regardless of the tightening of the money supply by the Federal Reserve, in spite of Washington scandals, it hasn't dropped.

Through all the bright pronouncements of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, in spite of hefty corporate profits, in defiance of the theory election years make good markets, it hasn't risen very much.

Does anybody have the answer? Looking back over the forecasts made since February you'd probably be inclined to think that somebody must have the answer but that even that person probably doesn't know he has it.

Somewhere in those 100 distinctly different explanations there's a useable one, but which one, which one?

Seek Plant Poacher

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Clara Dirienzo is losing patience and pots to a plant poacher. She says she's going after the phantom flower filcher.

"The pots are recognizable so I'm going to look for them," she said after two weekend sprees resulted in losses from her porch and those of her mother, sister and another neighbor.

She said the thief or thieves apparently knows his plants because "they took the best looking ones and left the ugly ones."

It's the time and energy wasted that upset Mrs. Dirienzo, not the $50 value of the missing pots and plants.

"We started them from little plants, fed them, watered them and talked to them," Mrs. Dirienzo said. "I should have instructed them, 'if anybody steals you, just die.'"

Indians in the Connecticut Valley regarded the tobacco they grew for their cigars as a sacred plant. It was cultivated by Indian braves, who would not allow the squaws to tend or use it.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

We always hear the expression, "hunger pains." Is this a meaningful expression to physicians, too?

Miss G. D. E., Wisc.

Dear Miss E.:

Hunger pains are indeed an expression of the body's physiological needs.

In most instances, they occur when the stomach is empty. With nothing in the stomach, the muscles of the stomach wall have nothing to contract down on. "Hunger pains" are almost immediately relieved by eating.

The gnawing, unpleasant sensation described as "hunger pains" can be an indication of the possibility of peptic ulcer of the stomach or the small intestine.

There are, of course, many other conditions that resemble hunger pain. For this reason, self-diagnosis is worthless. And it delays learning the real cause of these pains.

Doctors consider periodic, cyclic pain that is relieved by eating when they establish a diagnosis of stomach disorders. Later, this can be confirmed or denied by X-ray studies and other techniques.

Constant "hunger pain" is the cry of the body for help and must not be neglected.

All of us in the family have difficulty in swallowing pills. Is there any way that this can be made easy for us?

Mrs. L.K., Miss.

Dear Mrs. K.:

I've seen all kinds of gyrations that patients use to swallow a tiny pill or capsule. These same people do not seem to have the slightest difficulty in swallowing a large piece of steak.

A long time ago I quoted the suggestion made by Dr. William Robey, of Phoenix, Ariz. He tells his patients to take a sip of water and to hold it in the mouth. Then, he tells them to tilt their heads back as though to gargle. Then drop the pill on top of the water. Apparently, it becomes easier to swallow the pill. I tried it and it works.

How soon after a child is born with tongue-tie should the operation be done?

Mrs. K.J., Ga.

Dear Mrs. J.:

The thin band of tissue that binds the tongue to the floor of the mouth can easily be cut.

The operation is a simple one, and should be done as early as possible so that problems of eating and, later, speech can be avoided.

Court Opens Private Schools To Blacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Invoking a 110-year-old law designed to protect freed slaves, the Supreme Court has ordered most racially exclusive private schools to open their doors to black children.

In a separate decision Friday, the court ruled that the same law, which guarantees equal rights in making contracts, protects whites as well as blacks from job discrimination.

The two major civil rights decisions were reached as the court neared the end of its term with 32 cases to be decided, probably by July 4.

By a vote of 7 to 2, the court ruled that commercially operated non-sectarian private schools may not reject applicants simply because they are black.

"The decision would seem to apply on its face to any private school that has a generally open admissions policy as far as whites are concerned," said Roderick V. O. Boggs of the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights under law.

According to an estimate cited in briefs submitted to the court, about 3,500 "white flight" academies have been established in the South since the Supreme Court outlawed public school discrimination in 1954.

The schools have a total enrollment of 750,000, or about 10 per cent of the region's white school children.

The Southern Independent Schools Association, which said it represents 395 schools in six Southern states, argued in a brief for the right to discriminate. It said that many of its schools exclude blacks.

The Council for American Private Education, representing schools with about 90 per cent of the nation's private school enrollment, also supported segregation of the schools.

The court rejected arguments that the civil rights law of 1866 did not prohibit private racial discrimination. It also rejected the companion argument that if the act did apply to discrimination by private schools it was an unconstitutional invasion of privacy.

Justices Byron R. White and William H. Rehnquist dissented, saying the 1866 law applied only to discrimination imposed by state law and not to contracts between private parties.

The job discrimination case stemmed from a complaint by two white railroad workers who were fired for stealing antifreeze from a shipment. A black worker also was charged but not fired.

The white employees sued to get their jobs back, invoking both the post-civil war act and a separate civil rights law passed in 1964.

The Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals dismissed their suit, saying the 19th century act did not protect whites and the later law did not apply to their case.

The Supreme Court ruled unanimously they had a right to sue under the 1964 act. On the question of the earlier law it split 7 to 2. White and Rehnquist again saying that the law did not apply to private contracts.

Gov. Rhodes Won't Attend Wedding

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Howard L. Collier was going to be married with the governor standing by his side and the Ohio chief justice performing the ceremony.

Now an aide to Gov. James A. Rhodes says the state's highest executive won't even attend, and that's just one of the snags cropping up for the 43-year-old Collier, vice president of the Medical College at Toledo after a stint in Rhodes' cabinet as director of the Office of Budget and Management.

Collier is marrying Mary Ann Sorgenfrei next Friday in the governor's mansion which should be expected considering that the wedding invitations read:

"Gov. James A. Rhodes and Mrs. Mary Sue Dreyer request the honor of your presence..."

Mrs. Dreyer is the wife of Roger F. Dreyer, executive vice president of the Ohio Petroleum Marketers Association. He's been helping arrange the wedding.

Dreyer's involvement has proved another concern for Collier. It has been suggested Dreyer has solicited money from Statehouse lobbyists to help pay for the wedding, which has grown from a small affair to one with about 1,000 guests invited.

And that's another reason, the Rhodes' aide said, the governor will not participate.

"Jim was going to attend, but it was supposed to be a small wedding. But when it gets out of hand like it has, then, you know, he can't attend," said Emma Scholz, Rhodes' administrative assistant.

Dreyer, the planner, agrees: "It did get out of hand." But he denies soliciting lobbyist funds and Rhodes' office denies that that has anything to do with the governor backing out.

Collier was left an orphan when he was young and has often referred to Rhodes as his second father. Rhodes announced Collier's engagement. That explains Rhodes' name on the invitations. Miss Sorgenfrei, also an orphan, used Mrs. Dreyer's name for the same reasons, Collier said.

Wedding Vows Exchanged In Williamsport Church

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM LEONARD KISER

The wedding of Miss Cindy Lou Schleich and Mr. William Leonard Kiser took place 6:30 p.m., May 29, in Williamsport United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Richard Crosby officiated the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schleich, Williamsport, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kiser, 637 Salisbury Road, Waverly.

The church was decorated with an arrangement of pink and white carnations, white daisies and baby's breath on the altar flanked with candle arrangements of silk flowers. Candles were placed in each window and two baskets holding arrangements of artificial flowers were at each side.

Mrs. Nancy Smith, organist, and Miss Cathy Cochran, vocalist, presented a program of music preceding the ceremony. Miss Cochran sang "If" during the ceremony and at its completion, "We've Only Just Begun."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. She was attired in a white polyester knit gown with long full sleeves and low rounded neckline trimmed with lace. She wore a chapel veil of lace held with pearl hair clasps and her train of matching lace was fastened at the waist with a large lace bow. Her bouquet was a spring love bunch designed of yellow daisies, sweetheart roses, pink carnations, baby's breath, and rainbow colored ribbon. Her only jewelry was a necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Janet Wright, sister of the bride. She wore a mint green floor length gown with short sleeves and a fitted bodice of floral print cotton, and a satin belt forming floor length streamers at the back.

Bridesmaids, Mrs. Clark McFarland, Miss Kathy Schleich and Miss Laura Schleich, sisters of the bride, were dressed as the honor attendant in blue, pink and lavender respectively. The attendants all wore headpieces of net with matching daisies and long ribbons, and necklaces, gifts of the bride. All dresses for the wedding party were made by the bride's mother.

Miss Toni Sue McFarland, niece of the bride, wore a yellow dress matching that of the matron of honor.

Master C.K. McFarland, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Performing the duties of best man was Mr. Larry Carfrey. Ushers were Mr. Wayne Wright, brother-in-law of the bride, and Mr. Frank Belcher, cousin of the bridegroom. Mr. David Belcher, cousin of the bridegroom served as acolyte, lighting the candles before the ceremony.

The bride's mother selected a floor length fitted peach satin finish print gown with long sleeves and gold trim. The bridegroom's mother wore a full length melon colored gown with long sleeves in the princess style. The gown was trimmed with white pearl buttons and lace. Both dresses were made by the bride's mother.

A reception in the church annex immediately followed the ceremony. The five tiered cake was separated by columns and decorated in spring colors of pink, blue, yellow, green and lavender. A ring of daisies surrounded the base of the cake.

Hostesses were Mrs. Wilma Belcher,

Mrs. Darrel Arnette, Mrs. Robert Reeser, Mrs. John Dignam, Mrs. Jesse Peart and Mrs. George Lemaster.

Presiding at the guest book were Miss Lisa Jordan and Mrs. Larry Carfrey.

For a wedding trip to Indianapolis, Ind., the bride wore a knit pant suit in white and blue. The couple now resides at Apt. 534 B, Gumm Place, Circleville.

The bride is a graduate of Westfall High School and is employed by the American Bank of Central Ohio in Harrisburg.

The bridegroom graduated from Westfall High School and is employed by Container Corporation of America in Circleville.

Out-of-town guests were from Springfield, Orient, Columbus, Portsmouth, Lima, Clarksburg, Grove City, Circleville, Mt. Sterling, Laurelville, Harrisburg, Carroll, Chillicothe, Washington C.H., Cleveland, Cincinnati and New Holland, Ohio, and West Virginia.

Honored guests were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williams of Williamsport and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brown of West Virginia.

The bride was honored with showers recently hosted by Mrs. Janet Wright, Mrs. Robert Reeser and Mrs. Gloria Bidwell.

Old Tree

BISHOP, Calif. (AP) — Methuselah is still alive, and well, and living 12 miles east of here.

"Methuselah" is a 4,600-year-old bristlecone pine tree, and, according to Rand McNally's "National Forest Guide," the oldest known living thing on earth. The publication says Methuselah and a nearby companion, a tree named "Patriarch," which is the largest of the bristlecones, can be visited in the Ancient Bristlecone Pine Forest, located near California's famous John Muir Wilderness.

RANGETOP SUPPER

Chicken dumplings, pineapple ribs, rice, green peas, melon, tea.

CHICKEN DUMPLINGS

1 whole breast from a 3 to 3½-pound frying chicken

Scallions

1 teaspoon minced fresh ginger
1 tablespoon soy sauce
2 egg yolks
Bottled teriyaki sauce

Bone, skin and mince chicken — there should be about 1 cup not packed down. Mix with 1 teaspoon minced scallion, the ginger, soy sauce and yolks. Drop half the mixture by level teaspoons into 2½ quarts boiling water; boil uncovered about 5 minutes. Remove with a slotted spoon. Repeat with remaining mixture. (Broth may be used for soup.) The dumplings will be a slightly irregular shape. Serve them warm or cold sprinkled with a little teriyaki sauce and finely sliced scallion on top; have cocktail forks or picks at hand. Makes about 3 dozen.

SLIMMING SUPPER

Veal scallops, eggplant, peas, melba toast, pineapple salad, beverage.

Pineapple Salad

2 cups canned unsweetened pineapple juice

1 envelope unflavored gelatin

½ teaspoon salt

½ cup thinly sliced celery

¼ cup short slivers of green pepper

In a medium mixing bowl sprinkle the gelatin over ½ cup of pineapple juice; let stand about 5 minutes to soften. In a small saucepan heat ½ cup of the pineapple juice until almost boiling; pour over softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Stir in the remaining pineapple juice and the salt. Chill until slightly thickened; fold in the celery and green pepper. Ladle into five ½-cup molds or 6-ounce custard cups. Chill until set; cover. Unmold at serving time and garnish with lettuce. Makes 5 servings. (The delicate flavor of the pineapple juice comes through because the other ingredients are bland. Do not use frozen pineapple juice in this recipe.)

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

This session of the General Assembly has been busy, if not as productive as one would have hoped. Since January, 1975 nearly 2,300 bills and joint resolutions have been introduced. Of these, 281 House bills and 162 Senate bills were passed and sent to the Governor.

Thirty-five House bills and 14 Senate bills received final action during the 3-day "clean-up" session earlier this month. The Governor just began receiving them last week.

It is a misconception that bills must be acted on by the Governor within 10 days after they are passed. He must sign or veto a bill, or let it become law without his signature within 10 days after the Governor's office receives the final copy.

While a bill is going through the legislature it is said to be in "engrossed" form. After passage it is reprinted as an act, or "enrolled." If

Thieves Break Coin Mechanism

Thieves broke into two coin-operated dispensing machines at the Highlander Dry Cleaning Service, 203 Lancaster Pike, and tried to force open two others, according to Circleville Police Ptl. Joe Stevenson.

The dispensing mechanisms were removed from a gum ball machine and a toy machine. Ptl. Stevenson said, allowing access to the coin box and products.

No estimate of loss has been made, he said.

The incident occurred between Saturday and Monday.

Two windows at the rear of the S. Court St. Elementary School were shattered by vandals, according to Ptl. Stevenson.

Rocks were apparently thrown through the windows.

George Barnes, 130 E. Main St., told police that vandals bent about 10 feet of iron fence in front of his property. Damage is estimated at $100.

Rains Set Stage For Bumper Crop

STEVEN R. HURST
Associated Press Writer

The rains that fell this past week in Ohio were critical and set the stage for potentially bumper if not record harvest figures.

C. William Swank, executive vice president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, said the downpours saved millions of dollars in crops.

"Without a good rain about when that first one came last weekend, and without the additional soaking Thursday, crop production would have been way down," he said.

Swank's comments mirrored those of many Ohio farmers and agricultural experts who had been watching the corn crop "roll up and look pretty sick."

OYC To Open Regional Office At Detention Center

William K. Willis, director of the Ohio Youth Commission, announced that the opening of the agency's newest regional classification and assignment office will take place on July 6 in Chillicothe.

The chief of the classification and assignment section of the OYC, Howard V. Ware, said that Gary L. Fagan has been appointed the regional classification and assignment administrator of the South Central Ohio Classification and Assignment Regional Office.

Ware explained Fagan's new assignment and the purpose of the regional office, "the function of the regional classification and assignment office is to facilitate the admission of children to the OYC and to assist the court and other community agencies in diverting youngsters from the criminal justice system."

The South Central C & A Office will be located in the new South Central Ohio Regional Juvenile Detention Center just five miles west of Chillicothe on Route 3. Director Willis expressed his thanks to Judge Guy G. Cline and all the other people who helped to make the sixth such area office possible. The director said, "the seven county area being served by this regional office will help to facilitate these classifications and assignments such as has never been possible before. We will have an expert in C & A within traveling distance to the courts and law enforcement agencies in Fayette, Highland, Jackson, Pickaway, Pike, Ross and Vinton Counties on a daily basis."

Fagan has been an Education Specialist with the Athens Regional Office since June, 1973. Prior to his working for the OYC, Fagan was Head Teacher at Waterloo Elementary and Junior High School, Athens County, from 1972 to 1973, and taught at Athens High School from 1971 to 1972. He is a 1971 graduate of Ohio University in Athens where he received his B.S. in Education, and later in 1975, his Masters in Education in the area of Guidance and Counseling.

Swine Flu Problems Mounting

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Public health officials who will administer the swine flu vaccine say they need more federal help and may ask for voluntary donations to pay for the nationwide immunization program.

Dr. J. Brett Lazar, president of the National Association of County Health Officials, said public health doctors throughout the country appear to support the program but are concerned about the cost in manpower and money.

County officials estimate federal grants will pay about one sixth of the cost to local governments of administering the vaccine. The federal government is paying for the vaccine.

County officials, meeting as part of the annual convention of the National Association of Counties, also said they feared liability problems similar to those faced by the vaccine's manufacturers. A convention committee passed a resolution requesting that county and state governments receive a federal guarantee against loss similar to liability insurance sought by manufacturers of the vaccine.

The resolution, while supporting the mass immunization program, also appealed to the federal government for full reimbursement of the cost of administering it.

Prince Given New Cruiser

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — An unidentified Philippine admirer has sent Prince Charles of England a $30,000, 28-foot sea-going cruiser as a gift, the boat's builder said today.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos has one just like it for water skiing, said auto racer Eddie Marcelo, who runs a fiberglass boat company. But Marcelo wouldn't say if Marcos was the purchaser.

"I can't comment on that," he said. Mrs. Marcos met Prince Charles in Nepal and in Papua, New Guinea, in 1975 and invited him to visit The Philippines.

Marcelo said the boat is aboard the S.S. Weser Broker in a crate addressed to "HRH Prince Charles, Prince of Wales, Buckingham Palace, London, England." The ship left last Wednesday.

Goodyear Conservation Awards Presented

Clermont and Seneca soil and water conservation districts are Ohio's top winners in the 29th annual Goodyear Conservation Awards Program.

The districts were selected by an independent judging committee on the basis of their 1975 accomplishments in resource management and development, according to Ray Oviatt, awards director. The contest is sponsored by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company in cooperation with the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD).

Two representatives from each of the winning districts will receive expenses-paid, vacation-study trips to Goodyear Farms and the Wigwam resort, Litchfield Park, Ariz., in December. They will be joined by representatives of 51 other first place districts throughout the United States.

Jim Nobis, Cincinnati, chosen by Clermont SWCD as its outstanding cooperator of the year, and George E.

Rouster, Goshen, board chairman, will represent their district on the grand awards tour. Seneca SWCD will send Gerald Hoepf, outstanding cooperator, and board member Marion C. Kelbley, both of Tiffin.

In addition, plaques will be presented to the winning districts and to the runner-ups at the annual meeting of the Ohio Federation of Soil and Water Conservation Districts. The outstanding cooperators with all the participating districts also will be honored.

Second place honors in Ohio went to Greene SWCD with Richard Pickering, Xenia, outstanding cooperator, and to Licking SWCD, John E. Hankinson, Alexandria, outstanding cooperator.

Defiance SWCD, Franklin SWCD, Hancock SWCD, Henry SWCD and Pickaway SWCD, recent winners that were ineligible to repeat, were designated Honor Districts by the judging committee in recognition of their continuing excellence.

Language Bank Aids New Moms

CLEVELAND (AP) — How do you communicate with a woman in labor who only speaks a little-known foreign language?

That's one of the situations which confronts 215 volunteers of the Language Bank of Cleveland. Together, these volunteers can talk in 43 languages and in the ethnically-diverse Cleveland, that's a good start.

The story about the pregnant woman was told by Joseph Martanovic, one of the volunteers, who was called to the hospital's emergency room.

Although he said he forgot what the obscure language was, Martanovic said he translated the doctor's instructions phonetically to a nurse who then was able to instruct the woman in labor.

The 24-hour service provided by the language bank was started in 1974 after a study found that more than 140,000 persons here speak languages other than English. Cleveland itself has a population of just under 700,000.

Using money from the Junior League of Cleveland, the George Gund Foundation and contributions from business and other civic groups, the volunteers began answering requests from hospitals, airports, port officials, police, bus stations, taxi companies, doctors and even the FBI.

When a foreigner calls the language bank, an answering service contacts volunteers who set up a three-way conversation.

Although Eastern European languages are popular in Cleveland, the bank sometimes has problems getting volunteers who speak languages from other nations.

Moslems Shell Port In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanese leftist Moslems shelled the port of Junieh, the Christians' unofficial capital, Sunday night in retaliation for Christian shelling of the Beirut airport, the Moslems' Beirut Radio reported today.

The broadcast said the Christian port 12 miles north of Beirut was shelled by artillery of the Lebanese Arab Army, made up of Moslem deserters from the Lebanese army, which has disintegrated.

Christian artillery and rockets hit the Beirut airport for more than half an hour Sunday, destroying a 707 jetliner of Lebanon's Middle East Airlines, killing the Lebanese pilot and badly burning the copilot and the American flight engineer.

The shelling also damaged the airport's main runway and opened a large hole in the roof of the terminal building.

Syrian and Libyan troops of the Arab peace force who reopened the airport last Wednesday closed it again to all traffic.

Along with its announcement of the retaliatory attack on Junieh, Beirut Radio warned that "further and stronger reprisals would be exacted" if Christian forces continued to attack Moslem positions in Beirut and the nearby mountains.

The Christians Amchit Radio reported that the Christian enclave north of Beirut was "subjected to indiscriminate shelling that claimed several lives, including children and women."

USDA Records Show Wheat Reserves Larger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department this week put into effect a change in handling wheat statistics which immediately shows that the U.S. reserve of bread grain has been larger all along than the previous records have indicated.

No illegal bookkeeping is involved. The new system, in fact, was ordered by Congress last year and is intended to portray the wheat supply situation more realistically than in the past.

The change simply involves moving the beginning of the wheat marketing year up one month. Historically, the USDA's wheat marketing year used for statistical purposes began July 1 and ran through the next June 30. Now it will begin June 1 and extend through the following May 31.

Several reports issued this week were the first to incorporate the new bookkeeping year. Revisions also have been issued showing the wheat situation on the new June 1 basis for the past decade.

Many years ago little wheat was harvested before July 1. So what was left over from previous crops on that date was used as a benchmark for computing the total supply — the old-crop wheat plus grain from the new harvest — for the following year.

But harvest starting times have changed with modern varieties, combines, drying equipment and transportation. Thus, by July 1, much new wheat has already been harvested, delivered to elevators and — in some cases — on its way to port facilities for delivery abroad. In effect, counting this "new" wheat, there has been much more grain available on July 1 than the old system of bookkeeping has indicated.

The archaic wheat year really came under fire a few years ago when, after big export sales to Russia and other countries, there were alarms that the U.S. supply might run out before the

Nationwide Hires

Formers State Director

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nationwide Insurance has hired Kenneth E. DeShetler, former state insurance director, to be vice president for legislative and regulatory affairs.

DeShetler was insurance director from 1971 to 1975 and most recently was a member of a Columbus law firm where he did consulting work for Nationwide.

new harvest was ready and that bread might soar to $1 a loaf.

None of that happened, although the average farm price of wheat did rise to a record of $5.52 a bushel on Feb. 15, 1974, according to USDA. At the time, growers, grain trade experts and many members of Congress pointed out the fallacy of using July 1 wheat supply estimates as a benchmark for judging the situation.

Using the new June 1 starting date, the department says that there were 665 million bushels of wheat in the U.S. stockpile from previous crops. The old method had projected the "oldcrop" reserve would be 543 million bushels going into the 1976-77 marketing year on July 1.

Last year's reserve, carryover, carryin — the terms mean the same — on June 1 was 430 million bushels compared with the old July 1 total of 327 million used earlier.

The change to a June 1 marketing year starting date does not mean one bit more or less wheat. But it does provide farmers, the grain trade and the public with a more realistic accounting of how much grain there is on hand at a time when another new crop is ready for harvest.

Also changed to the June 1 year from July 1 were oats, barley, rye and flaxseed. Marketing years for other major commodities were not changed.

The marketing year for corn and sorghum begins on Oct. 1; soybeans Sept. 1; and cotton Aug. 1.

Wilberforce President To Become Bishop

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Rembert E. Stokes will step down as president of Wilberforce University following his election as a bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, school officials said Friday.

Yvonne Walker Taylor, vice president and academic dean and daughter of a former university president, will serve as acting president until a successor can be found.

The new bishop has served as president of AME-run Wilberforce since 1956. He directed the development of campus expansion and established a mandatory cooperative education program to give students at the predominantly black school experience in the business world before graduation.

GROUND BROKEN — Official ground-breaking ceremonies for the Ashville branch of the Equitable Federal Savings and Loan Association were held Thursday. Present were, from the left, Arlie Thompson, owner of the land on Route 752 and the Ashville-Lockbourne Road; Charles Morrison, Ashville councilman; Dwight Heister, president of Equitable Federal Savings and Loan Association; Max Cormany, mayor of Ashville; W. Harold Clifton, Equitable Federal director; Paul George, of Crooks and George Architects, who designed the proposed building; David W. Wood, general Contractor, of Lancaster; and Greg Bigam chairman of the planning and zoning board. Heister said Equitable Federal is grateful for the opportunity to become a part of the Ashville community. "We hope to provide a thrift and home financial institution, which will serve the people of this community to achieve homeownership," he said.

Former Pickaway County Man Authors Metric Tables

A former Pickaway County resident and 1936 Walnut Township High School graduate, will make the switch to the metric system of measurements a little easier for steamship companies and airlines the world over.

Robert H. Tweed, now the southwest district manager of the Pacific Cargo Inspection Bureau in Long Beach, California, is the author of "Tweed's Metric Cubic Tables", to be released in September.

Admittedly, "Tweed's Metric Cubic Tables" is not one of those books you can't put down till you finish it. But for the transportation industry, it will be indispensable in figuring cargo rates.

Tweed is the author of "Tweed's Accurate Cubic Tables", published in 1953, which since that time has been the official measurement standard for steamship lines and shippers worldwide, who are engaged in ocean export shipping.

With any three given measurements of a package, this book gives in table form the equivalent number of cubic feet.

Ten years later, he published "Tweed's Air Cargo Tables" which are in use world-wide by the major airlines to dimensionalize air freight shipments. The Air Cargo book converts the measurement of a shipment to its equivalent in "billing pounds".

Tweed will be republishing both the Accurate Cubic Tables and the Air Cargo Tables in metric form, each new book to consist of over one million mathematical calculations. This information will enable a shipper to predetermine freight costs, and the carrier to verify measurements for rating and billing, in cubic meters and kilograms.

"The metric system is here," says

Tweed, "and the time has come to provide the shipping industry with the metric tables it needs." Most of the world's steamship lines have already made the change to the metric system, and all will have gone metric by January 1, 1977. Tweed has already received hundreds of pre-publication orders.

Tweed, who is presently visiting his brother in Columbus, has held various positions with the steamship industry on the west coast since he left this area in 1948. He is also a licensed practitioner with the Federal Maritime Commission, and teaches a course on "The Metric System and Transportation" in Long Beach.

Tweed's brother, Andrew J. Tweed, has been involved in the transportation business locally most of his life, and is founder of Columbus Parcel Service, Inc., which provides next-day delivery by truck of small shipments throughout most of Ohio.

Inquiries about the books should be directed to A.J. Tweed, Columbus Parcel Service, Inc., 1009 Joyce Ave., Columbus, 43219, or to Tweed's Accurate Cubic Tables, 441 34th St., Manhattan Beach, California, 90266.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pair of multiple-fatality traffic accidents, three motorcycle deaths and three pedestrian fatalities helped push Ohio's weekend traffic toll to at least 19 by late Sunday night.

A three-car accident Saturday on the Ohio Turnpike killed two northern Ohio girls.

The other multiple-fatality accident killed three women passengers and a male driver when their car missed a curve, skidded 258 feet, then hit a fence and tree near Washington Court House.

It was at almost the same spot where a teen-age boy died 13 hours earlier when the car in which he was a passenger missed the same curve from the other direction and hit another tree.

The state Highway Patrol's tabulation of weekend highway deaths begins at 6 p.m. Friday and continues until midnight Sunday.

Sleepy Driver Hurt In Crash

A Clarksburg man, who apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his car, suffered minor injuries in an 8:40 a.m. Sunday accident on Route 22, two-tenths of a mile east of the Route 104 intersection.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Jim Fite said 19-year-old Ross Downing Jr. refused treatment of facial lacerations he suffered in the accident.

Deputy Fite said Downing was driving west on Route 22 when he apparently fell asleep. The car went left of the center line and off the left side into a ditch.

Officials Ponder Sparkler Dangers

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

While millions of Americans are looking forward to Fourth of July fireworks displays, the government is worrying about the safety of the sparklers.

New regulations have been proposed to take some of the bang out of some of the more common varieties of firecrackers, but they will not go into effect until next year.

Note: Firecrackers are distinguishable from other types of fireworks in that they are explosive devices whose primary purpose is to produce a loud noise rather than a visual display.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission reports that in 1974, the latest year for which statistics are available, there were 3,300 injuries related to fireworks on July 4 alone. More than 60 per cent of the injuries were caused by firecrackers.

The Office of Consumer Affairs of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has a few common-sense "Do's and Don'ts" for fireworks use: —Don't hold fireworks in your hand unless the directions specifically say so.

—Do place the fireworks on hard, smooth, level surfaces.

—Use fireworks outdoors only. Children should use fireworks only under close adult supervision.

—If the firework does not go off, wait at least 10 seconds after the fuse stops glowing before approaching it.

—At public displays, stay in designated areas to avoid fumes and sparks.

For further information, you can get a fireworks fact sheet from the Product Safety Commission by calling the group's toll-free hotline at 800-638-2666. Ask for Fact Sheet No. 12. (Maryland residents call 800-492-2937.)

For the future, the Product Safety Commission has issued rules limiting the amount of explosive powder that firecrackers can contain. The rules will go into effect on Dec. 5, 1976, unless there are major objections.

Under the regulations, no firework could contain more than 50 milligrams, equal to less than two one-thousandths of an ounce, of "pyrotechnic composition." (That means powder.)

Fifty milligrams is the amount of powder contained in a seven-eighths inch firecracker usually known as a "ladyfinger." The previous limit was 130 milligrams of powder. Larger firecrackers such as "Cherry Bombs" have been banned for several years.

The latest rules also ban colored sparklers that burn at temperatures as high as 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit and handheld Roman candles.

The new regulations would have no effect on organized displays such as COLUMBUS — State Representative Myrl H. Shoemaker (D-Bourneville) announced that the State Controlling Board today released $1.1 million to Orient State Institute for renovations.

The money will finance a heating renovation project at the institution that will consist of enlarging and replacing steam and condensate lines throughout the institution and replacing numerous hot water heating lines.

In a separate action, the Controlling Board also released $175,000 to Orient State Institute to fund architectural and engineering costs of a new residential center. The total estimated cost of the new facility is $4.1 million.

Shoemaker said the new residence center is vitally needed to alleviate overcrowding and provide more habitable quarters for Orient patients.

Community hospitals account for about 4 in 5 of all hospitalizations and handle more than 9 in 10 of all admissions.

Al Geiberger Wins Western Open Tilt

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — Maybe the real winner of the Western Open was the Butler National Golf Club course and not Al Geiberger.

And maybe the Western Open can be called the Back Door Derby. Nobody went forward.

Geiberger backed into the $40,000 top prize by deliberately playing for a bogey on the last hole. He said later, "I'll admit that was a rare way to win a tournament." He said that he remembered Arnold Palmer winning at Tucson some years ago with a double bogey on the final hole, but, of course, he wasn't going for one.

Geiberger won with a closing 73 for a 288, four strokes over par.

"It's hard for me to believe I won," he said.

Bob Dickson, leader through the first three rounds, dreamed of winning, which would have gotten him out of the weekly Monday qualifying tournaments.

After licking the Butler National beast the first two rounds with 67-69, the only player to beat par, Dickson collapsed.

He started Sunday with a 12-foot birdie putt on the first hole that gave him a six-stroke lead. He finished with an 80, sharing third place with defending champion Hale Irwin and Charles Coody at 290, good for $10,600.

Playing just ahead of Dickson and Geiberger was Joe Porter of Scottsdale, Ariz. He is another Monday qualifier with winnings of only $6,000 this season. Since turning pro in 1968, his biggest year was 1975 when he won $19,819.

Going to the 17th, Porter was one shot ahead of Geiberger. Geiberger's 13-foot birdie putt on the 14th hole had shot him ahead of Dickson who had double bogeyed.

However, on the 17th, Porter hit from the rough into the water, banged his club on the ground in disgust and finally settled for a bogey.

On 17, Geiberger made a testy par, coming out of the sand and canning a five-foot putt. At that point, he knew he had tied Porter for the lead.

But up ahead on 18, Porter was in trouble, unknown to Geiberger. Porter put his drive into the rough, his second into a trap, his third over the green and ended with a double bogey six for a 73 and 289.

A's Take Field, Top Twins

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

A bright, sunny day in Oakland was being completely ignored by at least two men who had very serious matters on their minds. Jim Todd, A's player-representative, stood in the A's clubhouse and Marvin Miller sat in his New York home 3,000 miles away.

Todd's words were disturbing to Miller as their telephone discussion progressed. The Oakland A's were about to go on strike — despite Miller's advice to the contrary — and there was little that could be done.

The clock ticked towards 1:30 — game time, the moment of truth. When Oakland Manager Chuck Tanner walked into the dressing room, a smile creasing his face, Todd put the phone down.

"Chuck came in and said, 'The game's on,'" said reliever Rolfe Fingers. "The guys said, 'Let's see it,'" referring to the lineup card, which could save a player walkout only by bearing the name of Fingers, Joe Rudi or Vida Blue.

In a two-way tie for second low net were the foursomes of Mr. and Mrs. Cal Danford and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Brad Schneider and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Binkley. There were 26 couples in the event.

Pickaway Country Club has an active day planned Sunday with a flag tournament for either men or women. The swimming pool will have extended hours preceding the fireworks display in the evening.

Norman, Reds Continue To Hex Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — Although he can't pinpoint the reasons for his mastery over Houston, Fred Norman of the Cincinnati Reds hopes his career streak against the Astros continues.

The veteran lefthander combined with Rawly Eastwick on a four-hitter Sunday for Norman's seventh consecutive career victory over Houston as the Reds clipped the Astros 4-2.

Norman, 6-1 for the year, hurled the first seven innings in running his lifetime record over Houston to 10-3. Eastwick came on in relief and retired all six Astros he faced to earn his ninth save of the season.

"When you have a good career record against a club, it really picks you up," Norman said.

"I think it's kind of amazing. The Astros are a good hitting team, but it seems as if every time I pitch against them I make good pitches," he said.

The Reds used a walk, a pair of singles, and Pete Rose's two-run base hit off Houston starter and loser J.R. Richard, 7-9, to take a 2-0 second-inning lead.

Houston cut the gap to 2-1 in the bottom half of the inning on a walk to Leon Roberts and Roger Metzger's run scoring single to left.

Two unearned runs crossed the plate for Cincinnati in the fourth on a throwing error by Richard and Ken Griffey's fielder's choice.

Bob Watson blasted his eighth homer of the season in the sixth inning, providing the Astros with their second run.

The victory over Houston gave Cincinnati a 2-1 decision in their three-game weekend series as the Astros failed for the 18th consecutive time to win a series from the Reds.

Houston's loss was the 11th in their last 14 games while the victory kept Cincinnati perched atop the standings in the National League's West Division.

In this Bicentennial year, it's only fitting that baseball share in the celebration.

Woodie Fryman and Manny Mota haven't reached the "200" level yet — but at least they're halfway there.

As a result of Sunday's performances, both players hit the 100 mark in aspects of the game — Fryman with his pitching and Mota with his hitting.

An especially elated Fryman gained his 100th major league victory, leading the Montreal Expos to a 4-3 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates. A pleased Mota collected his 100th career pinch-hit, helping the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the San Francisco Giants 12-8.

"Getting 100 wins in the big leagues may not mean much to some guys, because there are pitchers who have 150 or 200 wins," said Fryman. "But, believe me, it means something to me. It's important because I've never been set with a club because of the arm problems I've had in the past.

"My arm feels great this year. I've already had 15 starts and if I can stay healthy that means I'll get maybe 33 or 34 starts. That's not bad for a 36-year-old man."

Mota ranks fifth on the alltime pinch-hit list, but the significant 100th hit was a long time coming. The last time he hit safely was on May 23.

"I hope I don't have to wait that long to get 101," said Mota.

In the other National League games, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the St. Louis Cardinals 6-2; the New York

Mets routed the Chicago Cubs 13-3; the Cincinnati Reds trimmed the Houston Astros 4-2, and the San Diego Padres stopped the Atlanta Braves 3-2.

Tim Foli drove in three runs with a double and a single, helping Fryman register his 100th victory. Foli's two-run double against Doc Medich, 5-6, was the key hit in a three-run third inning for the Expos. Jim Lytle had the other Montreal RBI in the inning with a single to left.

The Expos scored what proved to be the winning run in the fifth when Foli singled home Larry Parrish, who had led off with a walk. The Pirates got their first run against Fryman in the top of the fifth on Al Oliver's homer. Pittsburgh added two runs in the seventh on RBI doubles by Oliver and Bill Robinson.

Dodgers 12, Giants 8

Run-scoring singles by Ellie Rodriguez and Mota broke a tie in the fifth inning, helping Log Angeles overcome two Bobby Murcer home runs and defeat San Francisco. Murcer drove in four runs for the Giants. Five of his nine home runs this season have come against Los Angeles.

The Dodgers broke a 6-6 tie in the fifth when Ed Goodson, Bill Russell and Rodriguez singled for one run. Mota followed with a pinch-hit single, giving the Dodgers an 8-6 lead. The Dodgers' added three runs in the eighth, two on Lee Lacy's bases-loaded single. Don Sutton, 7-7, earned the victory while Mike Caldwell, 0-5, took the loss.

Phillies 6, Cardinals 2

Catcher Bob Boone cracked his first major league grand slam homer and pitcher Jim Lonborg became the major league's second 10-game winner of the season as Philadelphia defeated St. Louis.

In the fourth, with the Phillies batting around in an inning for the 19th time this season, Boone smacked an 0-1 pitch over the left-field screen to cap a six-run explosion. Lonborg, who was lifted with two out and the bases loaded in the sixth, raised his record to 10-4. Randy Jones of San Diego leads the majors with 13 triumphs.

Mets 13, Cubs 3

Phillips homered for the third successive game and Ed Kranepool hit a two-run homer in a club record tying, eight-run second inning as New York humbled Chicago.

Phillips and Dave Kingman each delivered two-run singles in the big second as the Mets equalled their biggest inning, last accomplished in 1970 against San Francisco. It also was the biggest inning in the National League this season.

Padres 3, Braves 2

Tito Fuentes' two-out infield single in the ninth inning scored Ted Kubiak from third, giving San Diego its victory over Atlanta. Moments earlier, Braves' centerfielder Jim Wynn had prevented the Padres from winning when his perfect throw nailed San Diego's Dave Winfield at home. Winfield had attempted to score from second on a single by Johnny Grubb.

Benjamin Franklin recommended the turkey instead of the bald eagle as the national symbol of the United States. Franklin called the eagle a bird of "bad moral character."

The night hawk feeds on mosquitoes, flying ants and other flying insects.

Your Views On Horoscope Television

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Certain changes of plan may be suggested. Discuss fully and agree only if they seem truly feasible. Don't cause needless controversy, however.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Mixed influences. You may have a desire to do something "different" but, before you do, be certain it will be to your advantage.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Some changes or adjustments may be necessary. If so, handle in your usual philosophical manner. Where you should "stand pat," however, be firm — but with tact.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Crush any desire to postpone important moves. Strike while the time is propitious and the opposition is off balance.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Be guided by logic in stress periods. Give anxiety no quarter. Be prepared to cope with some minor obstacles which may appear.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Stars present a quiet picture. Inject a bit of pep into activities where needed. Incentive can be tailored to meet top requirements.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Fine influences stimulate your ingenuity, creativity and personality. Be careful, however, not to go to extremes in anything you undertake.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): You could launch a new venture now if you have given it careful thought. A good day for promoting, advertising your wares; in general, to press on to better things.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23): Never mind the odds against you! Keep working toward your objectives. There is always a way for the imaginative, optimistic worker. And you are that!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20): More gains indicated than you may anticipate. But there will be some obstacles, so pick your way alertly — but without anxiety.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A sudden flash of intuition in a romantic matter will be right on target. Follow through and recent barriers to happiness will fall.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Ask, if in doubt, but do not become unsettled at every sign of complexity. In general, hold the line against wavering and lack of confidence.

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with a fine intellect and unusual versatility. Original and highly imaginative, you are capable of accomplishment in many fields — especially since, while your imagination soars, you have the happy faculty of keeping your feet on the ground at all times. You are extremely practical and, unlike most high-flying thinkers, are patient, meticulous with details and willing to wait out the results of your unique ideas and projects. Fields in which you could make an eminent name for yourself: writing, diplomacy, science (especially engineering), painting and education. Traits to curb: jealousy and obstinacy. Birthdate of: G. W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal; Peter Paul Rubens, renowned Flemish painter.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The TV comedy "Viva Valdez" has been a flop in the ratings since beginning its summer run May 31 but the fact that it is on the air at all thrills co-star Carmen Zapata.

What is significant about it, she feels, is that the half-hour comedy series, which can be viewed on ABC-TV tonight, makes an honest effort to depict the daily lives of an average Mexican-American family.

"The important thing," says Miss Zapata, "is not whether it's picked up or whether I become a star but rather that we have taken a step forward. We are being shown for the first time in the right light, the right image. People are being made aware of who we are and what we are about."

Not that what they are about is anything very different from other people, she emphasizes, and that's her point.

"We're just like everybody else," Miss Zapata says of her fellow Mexican-Americans. "We may talk a little differently and we may eat a few more beans than other people, but basically we are the same. Our problems are just like everybody else's — paying the bills, raising a family and so on."

Until now, the 48-year-old actress says, commercial television either has ignored this large segment of the population or else has tended to portray it unfavorably.

"Viva Valdez" breaks new ground, she feels — not comically but ethnically. And even if it doesn't get picked up by ABC as a midseason replacement next winter — most unlikely, judging by the ratings so far — she is confident many good things will follow in its path.

The series about a Mexican-American family in the Los Angeles barrio, featuring Miss Zapata as the mother, originally was developed for the fall of 1975. ABC couldn't place it then but went ahead and ordered 13 episodes for later. Other new shows were given priority and "Viva Valdez" didn't get on until now.

The delay doesn't bother Carmen. She wasn't exactly sitting around waiting for it to get her work. On the contrary, it's hard to see how she would find time to do the series again if it did get renewed.

A vivacious, gray-haired woman who was born to a Mexican father and an Argentinian mother in New York City, Miss Zapata appears in a bilingual children's series on the Los Angeles public TV station, teaches drama one night a week at East Los Angeles College, heads up her own production company for producing plays and even portrays the Mexican-American version of Mrs. Olson, Mrs. Rodriguez, in Spanish-language commercials for Folgers coffee. She also is active on the Screen Actors Guild's ethnic minorities committee.

"You haven't asked me about my personal life," the twice-divorced actress commented near the end of a recent interview.

"Okay, what about your personal life?" She grinned. "No man would put up with someone as busy as me," she said. "Why get married to someone you'll hardly ever see?"

Rain that falls on "quick clay" — ground that has a high water content with little salt to bind the soil — can trigger massive mudslides, the National Geographic Society says.

Ashville Featured In Automobile Club Tour Of South Central Area

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of short tours of Ohio travel attractions prepared by Columbus Automobile Club for the Circleville Herald.

Ashville (19), which is just east of U.S. 23, north of Circleville, has for 47 years focused on the 4th day of July for its all-out festival. This year's celebration has been designated as the Official Bicentennial Event of the Ohio Festivals and Events Association.

This will be a jubilant occasion! The two-day festival will feature a mammoth fish fry, beauty pageants, displays and fireworks both nights. The 5th will be highlighted by the 11 a.m. parade and continuous free entertainment, including a contest of barbershop quartets.

While you're in the area, if you are a camper, you may want to stay at the beautiful A.W. Marion State Park (13), and do some fishing and boating, or visit Logan Elm (12), which is 5 miles south of Circleville, east of U.S. 23 on State Route 361, and picnic there at the site of the legendary speech of Chief Logan in 1774. Another attraction just west of Circleville, 1 mile south of U.S. 22 is the Circleville Canal (11). This is a 5-mile stretch of the Ohio-Erie Canal and you can get in some great fishing and hiking.

South on U.S. 23 or State Route 104 is Chillicothe. Just outside the city on State Route 104 is the Mound City Group National Monument (17). Twenty-three prehistoric mounds lie within the low embankment. This 67-acre tract is a restoration of one of the finest examples of Hopewell Culture, who inhabited the Scioto Valley from about 300 B.C. to 600 A.D. A visitor

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Bruce, dining out with his wife, began arguing with the waiter about the size of the check. In a huff the waiter snapped:

"We've had people try this sort of thing before."

Bruce was so offended that he filed suit against the restaurant for the damage done to his feelings.

"Their waiter," he complained in court, "deliberately embarrassed me in public."

But the court said hurt feelings were not an adequate basis for a lawsuit. The reason: this would be "getting into the realm of the trivial."

This is the usual attitude of the courts toward the lesser slings and arrows of everyday life.

"A certain toughening of the mental hide," observed one expert, "is a better protection than the law could ever be."

Nevertheless, most courts will recognize such a claim if the assault on the person's feelings is truly outrageous. A television repossessor, knowing that an 11-year-old girl was home alone, demanded angrily that she unlock the door. Otherwise, he warned, he would have her thrown into jail.

The child was badly shaken by the incident, and in due course a court said damages were appropriate. The court said:

"The fright (with its consequences) was brought about by a malicious intention to injure the plaintiff."

One famous case arose when a practical joker convinced a sickly old woman that a pot of stones she had dug up was actually a pot of gold. He arranged that she would discover the hoax under conditions of maximum public humiliation.

Again a court found grounds for damages, saying that the joker had gone beyond the boundaries of common decency.

"The mental suffering," said the judge, "must have been quite unbearable."

center contains offices, exhibits and public facilities. An observation deck provides an outstanding view of the area, as well as a recorded description and history. The monument is open daily during daylight hours. The visitor center is open June 1 through Labor Day, daily 8 - 8. The rest of the year it is open 8 - 5. Closed Jan. 1 and Dec. 25.

Adena (1), at the western end of Allen Ave. off State Route 104, is the stone mansion, now a state memorial, built in 1806-07 for Thomas Worthington, the sixth governor of Ohio. The mansion was designed by Benjamin Latrobe, who directed the construction of the nation's capitol. Overlook provides a breath-taking view of the hills reproduced on the Great Seal of Ohio. There is a charge for admission. Adena is open 10 - 5, Tuesday through Sunday, April through October. It is closed on major holidays.

The Chillicothe Gazette (2), at 50 West Main St., is the oldest continuously published newspaper west of the Alleghenies. Housed in a replica of Ohio's first capital building, it is open to visitors Monday through Friday, 8:30 - 5:00 and Saturday until noon. It is closed on major holidays.

The Ross County Historical Society Museum (3), at 45 W. 5th St. features exhibits of pioneer crafts, firearms, furniture, toys and costumes. There is also the Indian room and Ohio's Constitution Table. Open February through October, Thursday through Tuesday, 1-5. There is an admission charge.

In the evening, just a little northeast of Chillicothe, at Sugarloaf Mountain Amphitheatre (4), experience history first hand in the spectacular outdoor drama "Tecumseh", the reliving of the Battle of Tippecanoe. Begins at 8:45 p.m. nightly except Sunday, June 21 to Sept. 4.

Just south of Chillicothe is Scioto Trail State Park (5), one of the three state parks in the area. One particular attraction of the park is that scuba is permitted. The other parks are Pike, south of Bainbridge, and Rocky Fork, near Hillsboro. Each has a character all its own and offers a wide variety of outdoor activities.

Seip Mound State Memorial (9), contains the great central mound of the Seip complex, which originally consisted of several mounds and a series of earthen embankments. There is a pavilion displaying graphic material, related to the mound complex. Picnic facilities are also available.

The Dental Museum (6) which is right on Main St. in Bainbridge was the country's first dental school operating from 1826 - 1831. On display are dental instruments and equipment used during pioneering days of dental surgery. Open April 15 to Nov. 1, Friday through Wednesday, 10 - 5. No charge.

Southwest of Bainbridge, off State Route 41 is Fort Hill State Memorial (7), the prehistoric earthworks believed to have been built by the Hopewell Indians. A museum with displays on geology, plant and animal life and on the Hopewell Indians, is open 9:30-5 Tuesday through Sunday, March to December. Admission charge.

Paint Valley Skyline Drives (8), starting in Bainbridge, are four loop routes, varying from 9 to 38 miles that travel from the valleys to the summits of Ohio's most spectacular hills. This is a trip you'll want to plan again in the fall for Bainbridge's "Fall Festival of the Leaves" when Paint Valley's magnificent display is further enhanced by the celebration, old time crafts and free entertainment. This year's festival will be held Oct. 14-17.

Number fourteen on the Map is the new Paint Creek Lake with its beautiful outdoor facilities.

West of Bainbridge and a mile south of U.S. 50, is Seven Caves (10). Each cavern is electrically illuminated and there are three separate foot trails in the 100-acre park. Open daily 8 - 6:30, May 24 to September 1. Admission charge. Open 8 - 5, March 15 - May 23, and September 2 - November 15.

In Hillsboro (18) is Ayers Drug Store, which is the oldest drug store east of the Alleghenies, in continuous operation since 1808; the oldest court house building in the state, dating from 1834; and Highland House, which was used as a tavern and hotel for many years, and now has been restored by the Highland County Historical Society and contains 14 rooms of period furnishings.

North again in Washington Court House is the Fayette County Historical Center and Museum (15), is a beautiful mid-Victorian mansion built in 1875. The museum is open Sun. 2 - 5 and weekdays by appointment.

The Fayette County Court House (16) opened May 1, 1885, displays the murals of Archibald M. Willard, painter of the famous "Spirit of '76".

Full circle again to Circleville on U.S. 22, you'll pass Deer Creek State Park (20) on State Route 207.

With all the sights, you may plan to come back again to fit it all in. Make sure you are in the area Oct. 20-23 for Circleville's world-renowned "Pumpkin Show". This is a delightful festival with continuous entertainment from noon until midnight, seven parades, known as the "Greatest Free Show on Earth."

To get to the tour area from Circleville, leave Circleville on U.S. 23 southbound. This four-lane highway will go directly to Chillicothe.

Kroger believes in America!

When the Panic of 1893 shook America, B. H. Kroger's scrupulous honesty and dedication had built his starting investment of $372 into a prosperous little Ohio food store chain. Then disaster threatened. Banks were failing and "Barney" Kroger's growing business was vulnerable. For once the young businessman had to ask for help. "All I need," he said, "is for someone to believe in me. Then I can weather the storm." Help came promptly. Someone did indeed believe in him. In this year of the 200th birthday of the United States, American needs-believers. Citizens who believe in the future of American individualism, freedom, opportunity and honest hard work. B. H. Kroger is gone. But the company he founded endures, and so do his principles. Kroger believes in America.
